

309 Yoakum Pkwy #601
Alexandria, VA 22304
June 24, 1989

Dear Mom and Dad,

It is another warm (80's) and humid day. We have had thunderstorms every day this week and more are predicted over the weekend. At least we have not had the 90 degree weather yet. It is Saturday afternoon. Vickie is listening to the opera and Siegfried is lying on the balcony inside his "cage". Within a few weeks he will be confined inside for a while because balcony repairs are scheduled to begin. They are taking out and reinstalling the railings of all the balconies.

I went in to work this morning because I took yesterday afternoon off. We drove up to Baltimore and visited the Walter's Art Gallery. The special exhibit was of Coptic art from Egypt. Afterwards we ate paella at a Portuguese restaurant in Baltimore.

Work is going well and I am kept quite busy doing some calculations on the computer. I will certainly be ready for a break by August and look forward to seeing you.

Love,

Jim & Vickie